

BREAD, TEA AND COAL AT COST.

Crowds of Poor People at the Grand Street Store.

Nathan Straus Personally Superintends the Opening.

If the museum which used to be in the big building at 345 Grand street could have presented such an attraction as the opportunity to buy bread, tea and coal at cost, it would probably be there now instead of the establishment opened this morning by Nathan Straus.

All the morning men, women and children crowded the street, waiting to purchase at the philanthropic store, at which they could take advantage of charity without surrendering their independence.

Straus himself superintended the details of the opening, and although he is director of the undertaking for some weeks, man whose name he will not make known, he is taking as much interest in it as in any of his own charities.

The plan is to furnish bread, tea and coal in five and 10 cent quantities at cost.

The ground floor of the building has two entrances, and the other is used as an exit. In the centre of the floor 6,000 loaves of bread and 1,000 packages of tea were piled up, while the entrance to the rear of the store, a score of girls stood behind counters to wait on customers. Mr. Straus required them to be polite, and treat passengers as if they were guests.

All purchases were made with tickets paid for at the entrance. Ordinary bread cost 5 cents; half loaf, two for 10 cents; 10-cent loaf at two for 15 cents. Tea was put up in five and 10 cent packages, which contained as much as is usually sold at about 12 and 25 cents.

The coal is sold in the basement at five cents for twenty pounds. There was 150 tons of it on hand, and a great deal more had been ordered.

The crowd was so great this morning that policemen were required to keep the purchasers in line. Straus said that the undertaking is a success, the gentleman who is providing the charity will open other places on the same plan.

The expense to him for the care of the building and the wages of about fifty employees, it is intended that there shall be no loss on goods sold.

ASSASSINATION BY BOMB.

How the Deadly Missile Is Made and Why so Destructive.

BOMB THROWN BY VAILLANT.

Vaillant, who hurled a bomb in the Chamber of Deputies, in Paris, recently, paid only 13 cents for the canister that contained the explosive. The Sunday World will explain what he did to it and why the destructive force was so great.

There are other deadly missiles which the Anarchists have learned to make, and the bomb of Vaillant or another can be easily copied.

The plan is to take the cane or umbrella into the theatre, store or Stock Exchange and lay it upon the floor, causing it to explode in its upright or natural position will cause it to explode with fatal result.

The head of the cane holds two glass vessels containing a liquid explosive, and with an explosive liquid harmless in itself so long as it is kept away from the other. The cane is carried by the Anarchist, who has a pocket knife to cut it horizontally. But when lifted up and placed against the wall the fluid in the upper bottle runs into the lower and the explosion takes place.
